A saggin' dragon gets a fresh coat of paint. Each balloon takes up to eight months to design and build. Made of superthin rubberized nylon, they are not one big gasbag, but a number of compartments—arms, legs, ears, nose inflated separately.

Thanksgiving in New York wouldn't be the same without the annual big parade. And the parade wouldn't be the same without the giant comic character balloons that have been delighting kids and adults for 36 years. With the big day coming up once more, nine balloons are being readied for their once-a-year appearance. Two are brand new, identities to remain secret un-

Donald Duck floats through New York's canyons, left, on Thanksgiving Day. The balloons—up to six stories high, weighing 250 pounds and filled with helium—are controlled by tethers held by 25 to 45 men as the annual parade, staged by Macy's department store, moves down Broadway. Another view of Donald, above, happily at rest in his off-season quarters, the Akron, Ohio, plant of Goodyear, maker of the balloons.

Popeye and Bullwinkle J. Moose go through inflation tests. Characters from popular comic strips have been favorite subjects since the balloons made their first appearance in the 1930 parade. Although much sought after for other promotional and pageant appearances, they are on public display only once each year—on Thanksgiving Day in New York.

Deaf Ears to Warnings

warning labels are required on cigarette packages, it gives one pause to be told that scaring people is not necessarily the best way to get them to do, or not to do, something for their own good.

This conclusion about human behavior comes from a psychologist with the University of North Carolina School of Public Health and is based primarily on a study of an oral polio vaccination campaign in Florida.

There it was found, reports Dr. C. David Jenkins, that the fear of a disease or the risk of getting a disease doesn't seem to encourage people to seek a way of preventing it or reducing the risk.

Excessive scare campaigns may, in fact, have just the opposite result.

In view of the fact that health Fear of cancer, he says, has actually driven some women away from screening clinics.

Apparently the need is to create a moderate degree of concern in people-something more than apathy but less than fear.

Yet some of the people in Florida took the vaccine because "it was the thing to do. It was socially fashionable. It was a way to become a part of the community."

The psychologist credits newspapers with doing a better job of conveying health information to the public than any other communications

Unfortunately: "Teaching facts doesn't always motivate people's behavior," he says. "There are more emotional factors involved in behavior than a string of facts."

Not So Bad Here

If you had an old busteroo of a day on the job, it might soothe things if you compared our system with the way the Russians handle employment.

Propagandists claim there's no unemployment, of course, and also boast that for the past 10 years workers have had the freedom of quitting by giving two-weeks' notice.

Under the surface, these Russian claims prove not quite true.

UNEMPLOYMENT - Many workers nobody knows how many, obviously - are getting by without working for various periods of time, supported illegally by relatives.

This came to light with a new regulation which makes it difficult to alter the labor cards every worker must have. It would appear that a petty racket had sprung up involving these cards, which carry a complete record of jobs held, employer commendations and reprimands. When a worker quit, the date was noted on his card, using the year, month and day in numerals. The change of a numeral would put everything back in order when the worker wanted to end his loafing and check in on another EMPLOYERS - The labor card stays in possession of the bureaucrat-boss as long s the worker retains his job. There are cases of employers refusing to surrender the card when the worker wants to quit, protests to the local party headquarters revealed.

PENALTIES - A jobless worker can be arrested as a "parasite" and be exiled to

Most People Forget Veterans Too Soon By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - It seems like a very short time since the factory whistles blew and the bells tolled on Nov. 11, 1918, announcing the end of World War I and Armistice Day, now called Veterans Day. Yet another World War and two bloody minor wars have been packed into the years that have followed. And still the wars go on. I remember the crowds surging up to the drill ground on that November day in 1918 to tell us the war was over, that we didn't have to drill anymore, didn't have to fight after all. And I remember young men in uniform lolling around the rest of the day wondering what to do with themselves, a little disappointed that a hero's life was not for them. The "war to end war" was over.

Twenty-eight years passed; another Armistice Day; only this time we called it V-J Day - Sept. 1, 1946. The crowds jammed Pennsylvania Avenue. Street cars couldn't move. Motormen jangled their bells, then gave up. Crowds everywhere, good-natured crowds, jubilant crowds, celebrating the end of four years of war.

Inside the gnarled old State Department the lights burned late. Jimmy Byrnes, then Secretary of State, was working on plans for a Peace Treaty -a peace that was never signed. The diplomats frittered, the statesmen procrastinated and the peace eroded into a Korean war, a Berlin airlift, a Lebanon landing, a continuing crisis of the Formosa Straits, a Dominican occupation and now a war in Southeast Asia.

Veterans Day Is Realistic So out of the war to end war in 1918 has come a succession of wars. And out of Armistice Day which had the promise at least of a pause, a surcease from war, we have Veterans Day, a day on which we think of the men who have fought wars and suffered from them. The name is less idealistic, but more realistic. If we are going to have continued wars - and I am in the minority which still believes them unnecessary - then let's give more attention to the men who fight them, not just sit comfortably at home. Let's do a little thinking, during the parades and hoopla of Veterans Day, about the Negro private and the white sergeant in Viet Nam who put the lives of their buddies ahead of their own; the two officers who fought on despite gaping wounds, and the Naval construction worker who volunteered under heavy fire. While Stokely Carmichael, the allegedly non-violent preacher of violence, was making headlines by preferring jail to the Army, Pfc. Milton Olive III, of Chicago, Ill., also a Negro, rated only a paragraph on the inside pages. Yet he, not Carmichael, is more typical of his race. Private Olive was awarded the nation's highest decoration, the Congressional Medal of Honor, posthumously, for smothering the explosion of a Vietcong hand grenade with his body so others might live.

Only four others have matched his valor in Viet Nam. They are: Roll Call of Heroes

Staff Sgt. Larry Pierce of Wasco, Calif., leading his squadron down a dirt road in pursuit of guerillas, spotted a land mine which he knew would kill most of his men. He threw himself on top of it, giving his life to save his men.

Capt. Roger Donlon of Saugerties, N.Y. directed the defense of a small outpost during a five-hour Vietcong assault. He was wounded several times, once in the stomach. He stuffed a handkerchief into the wound, tightened his belt and went on with the action. Hit twice in the leg, he dragged himself from place to place. Miraculously he survived the battle, is credited with saving the lives of a couple of his men.

Lt. Charles Q. Williams of Fayetteville, N. C., though wounded four times, directed the defense of a special forces camp. He personally led a patrol that slipped up on an enemy machine gun, bringing back one wounded man.

Construction mechanic Marvin Shields of the Seabees, from Seattle, Wash., volunteered with Williams to knock out the machine gun. He had been hit twice, but assisted in carrying another wounded man to safety, then volunteered for the assault on the machine gun. He was killed.

Private Olive and construction worker Shields will not be around anymore. We can help their families but not them. But other wounded men, 107,000 of them, are now recuperating in veterans hospitals. They receive excellent physical care. William J. Driver is the best veterans administrator since Gen. Omar Bradley, under whom he trained.

Medical and nursing attention is of the finest. Most veterans hospitals are among the best equipped in the world.

However, the care and encouragement of veterans should not be left solely to the hospital staff. They need to be remembered and appreciated. They need friendship and companionship. And this is true of all the sick and wounded veterans from previous

So until we can defeat the constant succession of war - and I am convinced we can do it - let's remember the men, on Veterans Day and every other day, who have to fight the wars that are not of their

LBJ Admits Things Will Be Tougher

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept mum a while about Tuesday's election, as if to digest the result in which Republicans were the gainers, but finally admitted things would be a little tougher for him now.

This doesn't mean he has become a reticent politician. In this year's election campaigns he was rather more absent than reticent. It was the absence which saved him from some possible embarrassment later. His decision to go to Asia in or couldn't it have waited until after the elections? Or was he afraid that, if he did campaign for those who lost, some or much or all of the blame would be dumped on him?

In fact, Sen. Wayne Morse. Oregon Democrat, warned Johnson to keep his nose out of Oregon politics. Morse's warning came while the President was still in Asia and there was the possibility that when he returned a week before elections he might campaign.

Johnson removed himself from any campaigning when he did come back and announced he needed surgery.

In effect, Morse, constant critic of Johnson on the war in Viet Nam, told the President he would be a potential disaster for Oregon's Democratic candidates if he went there.

This was ironic since Morse himself refused to support the Democratic candidate for the Senate, Rep. Robert B. Duncan, a Johnson supporter on Viet Nam, who was running against Oregon's Gov. Mark O. Hatfield.

Morse said that if Johnson visited Oregon "He will probably help elect Hatfield." Hatfield won anyway, although Johnson never went near Oregon. But New York's Sen. Robert F. Kennedy did and pitched for Duncan. But, for that matter, so did Johnson's vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey.

Before Johnson went to Asia it was pretty well known a number of Democrats might lose. Take three of the most promi-

Keverence To Inspire Reverence

A sentinel on guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery said there is little time to think about anything while on duty except keeping count and wondering if his image of the military is correct. It is when the guards are polishing the brass, shining their shoes cleaning their weapons, or pressing their uniforms and when the cemetery is silent, that they have time to think about their assignment.

"It is not the changing of the guard we are trying to stress," said Sgt. Sheely, "but its continuity. We serve at a memorial which honors our war dead, but we represent the serviceman who is the living guardian of the heritage for which they died."

It was on Armistice Day in 1921 that the first unknown soldier came to rest, with pomp and ceremony, at Arlington. The date November 11 is now memoralized as Veterans' Day, but the tomb guard is still there to remind us of that day 45 years ago. Before too long an unknown soldier from the war in Vietnam will probably lie beside the tomb.

The changing of the guard is without the roll of drums. It is a precise military ceremony and the crowd is silent. "I think maybe," said one of the sentinels, "we are here to remind those who come why the tomb is here - to inspire reverence through our own reverence."

Except for a brief visit to New York in support of O'Connor, Johnson visited none of the three states. But Kennedy did. And so did Humphrey.

The three Republicans - Reagan, Percy and Rockefeller won. Now no one can say that Johnson is responsible.

And Johnson now has the ury of sitting back to see if anyone tries to blame Kennedy, no pal of Johnson and perhaps his rival for the presidential nomination in 1968, although Kennedy denies he will be.

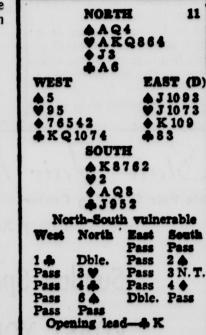

Weeks before Johnson went to Asia a public opinion poll showed Kennedy the choice of Democrats and Independents for the presidency in 1968 over Johnson. Humphrey has never been mentioned as a possible Johnson rival.

Company Name 'Tails' Have Lost Their Meaning

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Some companies insist that to address them correctly you must include the "Inc." at the end of the name, even though for commercial identification purposes this tail is of questionable value.

Some insist that a comma be inserted just before the "Inc." Some don't want the comma. And more insist that the tail be dropped. Some others spell the word "Corporation." Most, however, settle for "Corp."
In England the tail is "Ltd.", in France and Spain "S. A.," in Holland "N. V.", in Germany "A. G." and in Japan "K. K." In popular use, however, these tails that trail company names are sometimes as redundant as adding esquire to a person's name In certain instances they do help identify a small corporation that might be confused with a partnership.

Everyone of these tails means essentially the same thing: That liability in the company is limited to the amount owned — to the par value of an individual's shares. One person can't be held responsible for more of the company than he owns.

For legal purposes the tails do have meaning. In New York and many other states, for example, laws required the word "incorporated" or "limited" or "corporation" be part of the name as a limited liability concern.

There are exceptions. General Electric Co. was incorporated under an old law. If it was reincorporated, however, it might have to add the tag. This has beeen done before.

A few years ago, American Gas & Electric Co changed its name to American Electric Power and was required to add a tail to its name. The general assumption today is that a company without a tail is a partner-

In popular usage, the indica-tion of incorporation is hardly a requirement for identification. Almost all large concerns are incorporated. But many of the largest of them seldom use the formal name.

A General Motors Corporation executive commented "we seldom use 'Corporation' in our statements. We just call it General Motors." At United States Steel Corporation a spokesman said "We just say U.S. Steel for simplicity.'

But to many companies the tail is as necessary as a tie to a well-dressed gentleman. This is very true of small companies with big ambitions. Some even have threatened to withhold payment for advertising which dropped a comma from the James W. Clark, who said he was working for the California attorney general's office, testified he joined the Minutemen in April, 1964.

James Moore, 31, of Omaha, an agent for the U. S. alcohol and tobacco tax unit, said he became a Minuteman last May.

They testified in the trial of Robert B. DePugh, head Minuteman, and Walter Patrick Peyson, both of Norborne, Mo., and Troy Houghton of San Diego, Calif. The three are charged with violating the national firearms act.

Another witness, Kenneth L. Templeton, a heavy equipment operator from San Diego who said he was a John Birch Society member, said he was accepted into the Minutemen in January, 1965, but later withdrew over differences on policy.

Clark said he was admitted through a letter signed by Houghton which said in part, "...If this nation's foreign and Celebrate domestic policies continue as may soon come when Americans will once again fight in the streets for their lives and their Anniversary ing champs. Kansas City can wrap up the crown by beating Miami Sunday, Boston here Nov. 20, New York Nov. 27 at New York and Miami Dec. 11 at Miami.

Minnesota was the most successful expansion club in pro football history, with three victories in 1961. Miami already has two victories, with six games yet to play.

Miami has a bruising running game with Cookie Gilchrist, Billy Joe and Joe Auer and a number of veteran defensive stars with end Earl Faison, linebacker Wahoo McDaniel and safety Willie West. It is a fastimproving club that can't be taken lightly.

Charlie Callahan, Miami's public relations man, said the possibility of an upset victory over the Chiefs seemed stronger after the elections.

"After 100 years, if Florida can elect a Republican governor, we've got a chance to beat Kansas City," Callahan said.

Take it for a test drive. See if you pass.

The real test in a Volkswagen is to see? if you know what driving really is.

Ilf you think you're driving in other cars, then what you do in a Volkswagen is something else.)

Most cars give you all the lively moving sensation of sitting on your living room couch.

But the VW isn't sprung like other cars. Its 4-wheel torsion bar suspension (the kind they have in racers) gives you the feel of the road.

You always know what's going on because you know what your car's going on. And you know what's coming, because, you'll see more road than you ever saw before. (Our sloping hood doesn't cut off your view.)

When you twist the steering wheel a little, you can feel the front wheels turn a little. So you know the car's doing just what you told it to. (Doesn't that sound satisfying?

We can tell you that the VW parks shorter than other cars, and maneuvers more easily.

But we can't tell you how it feels to drive one.

So take the test. Maybe you can tell us.

Colombia has entered the Caribbean-Pacific canal picture with plans to cut its own seaway across the narrow northwestern part of the country. For some years the United States has been searching for sites for a new waterway, sea-level all the way if possible, to ease the present bottleneck at the 50-year-old Panama Canal with its narrow, obsolete locks. Five sites, including one in Colombia starting at the Gulf of Uraba on the Caribbean, are receiving most serious consideration in the U.S. studies. The proposed Colombian seaway (inset) also would start at Uraba but would angle much farther south than the American route, passing through two large lakes created by earth dikes before reaching the Pacific at Malaga Bay. Hydroelectric plants planned at each dike would produce an estimated three million kilowatts of electrical power.

Fletcher explained in an interview that a situationist looks only at individual, concrete cases, not at abstract principles.

"I look at situations one at a time," he said. "You ask me how often premarital sex would be all right and I would say relatively infrequently. Maybe only once in 100 times. But in some situations unmarried love could be infinitely more moral than married unlove."

"A situationist would discard all absolutes except the one absolute: always to act with loving concern," he said. "Oh, I know the word 'love' is a swampy one, a semantic confusion.

NEW Beltone BRAVO

HEARING POWER WHERE IT HELPS MOST, SHOWS LEAST ... ALL-IN-THE-EAR!

Secret of the small size of the new "Bravo" all-in-the-ear custom fitted hearing aid, recently introduced by Beltone Electronics Corporation, is the patented Mioro-Module Ampillier shown here (left foreground) - so tiny it would take over 300 of them to fill one ouble inch. .The Brave amplifier is pictured with its predecessors from earlier Beltone hearing aide, including the company's first-gen-eration Micro-Module Amplifier introduced less than two years ago (right fore-ground). Its highly reliable electronic circuitry is so efficient that the Bravo will operate for 110 hours on a single batbery.

INTERFERENCE WITH NERVOUS SYSTEM CAUSES PARALYSIS

Paralysis can be defined generally as the loss of sensation, function, or voluntary movement.

There are many forms of paralysis. Each type mani-fests itself in variable symptoms. Paralysis can be due to various forms of poisoning, nerve injury, pressure from a tumor, or pressure nerves by bones that have beslightly misaligned come through injury. The latter condition occurs mostly in the spine and is the most common cause of paralysis.

Some of the symptoms of paralysis are: Shriveling up of certain muscle groups, lack of complete muscular action, trembling, difficult swallowing, incoordination of the tongue, and many other functional symptoms. Neuritis or sciatica sometimes develop into paralysis.

It is wise to see a Chiro-practor if any of these symptoms develop, as he is qualified to deal with trouble invalving the nervous system. These health articles are presented thru the courtesy of

AFL STARS—Two of the outstanding players in the American Football League seen over the NBC Television Network are (left) Gino Cappelletti, pass receiver and kicker for the Boston Patriots, and Jackie Kemp, quarterback of the Buffalo Bills. Cappelletti is a four-time scoring champion of the AFL, winning the title the last three years in a row. In 1965 he scored nine touchdowns, kicked 27 extra points and 17 field goals for 132 points. Kemp is one of the outstanding passers in the league who led the Bills to two consecutive AFL championships in '64 and '65.

DISCUSSING SEARCH FOR PEACE

ROME, Italy—Edward M. Lindsey (right)
President of Lions International, explains the world wide service organization's "Search for Peace" project to Pope Paul VI in a 25-minute private audience held in Vatican City.

The Pope, who himself is very active in promoting World Peace, had words of high praise for the 800,000 Lions around the world for their efforts in getting Youth interested in thinking and writing about peace.

Youth between the ages of 14 to 22 in 135 countries of the Free World are urged by Lions International to write an essay on the theme: "Peace is Attainable" for a $25,000 first prize, offered by Lions International.

Mrs. Lindsey is in center (left) and the Right Reverend Monsignor Paul Marcincus, whe translated for the Holy Father during the meeting held in the papal private chambers, is center (right).

Bewitched' Tells About Big Blackout

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With excellent timing and delightful tmagination, ABC's "Bewitched" Thursday night came up with a thoroughly comprehensible explanation of last year's big blackout.

Aunt Clara, whose powers of sorcery are not as dependable as they were when she was younger, accidentally put out the lights of the entire Eastern Seaboard when all she was trying to do was move a grand plano by means of witchcraft.

That the program came almost on the anniversary of the blackout was, of course, no coincidence, and it fitted in nicely since a lot of people have been recalling where they were and what they did on the night when all the lights went out.

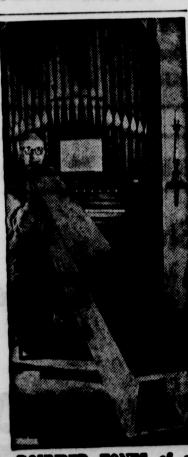

"Bewitched" was not the only show that was busily taking some liberties with history Thursday night. CBS' "Jericho" used the daring removal of Mussolini from a mountain top by German troops, engineered late in World War II by German Col. Otto Skorzeny as the base of a fictitious, flamboyant adventure for the show's intrepid secret agents.

The program even had a character, "Major Otto Von Zeeny," who seemed almost as smart as the heroes — except he was bad, of course.

The rescue of Mussolini by the Germans, however, was mostly a point of reference and at most a subplot. The three superagents of the story were busy trying to get the German plans for the Italian invasion.

And the blackout was just one ingredient in the "Bewitched" opisode. As it developed, babysitting, Aunt Clara's romance and the sale of a million-dollar edvertising campaign were the more important ingredients.

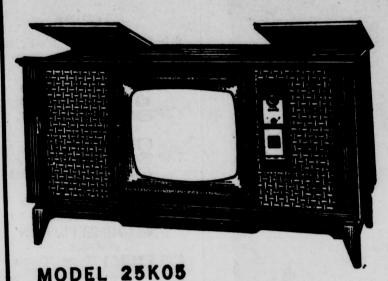

In spite of all the preseason announcements about meaningful, significant drama that was going to be the spice of the curtent television season, two months have passed, and so far we have not seen any of it.

Technicians Able To Whip Rocket Problems

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) - Gemini 12, America's final man-in-space adventure of 1966, sailed smoothly toward blastoff Friday after technicians finally whipped rocket troubles that kept the pilots grounded two days.

Mission officials checked rockets, men and weather, then gave the all-clear for the fiery start of the four-day journey though 1,600,000 miles of uncharted space.

Nonpoisonous Gas Used By Viet Cong

Troops Don Gas Masks, Continue On With Duty

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)-An ambush patrol of the 1st Infantry Division was attacked Thursday by Viet Cong using a nonpoisonous type of tear gas, a spokesman said.

He added that this was the first known firing of gas by the Communists in the Viet Nam war. However, South Vietnamese authorities alleged in September 1965 that the Viet Cong used nausea-inducing gas grenades. The allied forces have used nonlethal types in certain instances for nearly two years.

The Viet Cong attack came in Tay Ninh Province of War Zone C, a battleground area centered 65 miles northwest of Saigon, where Americans have reported more than 800 enemy dead in a week of hard fighting against the Viet Cong's 9th Division. The patrol had settled into its ambush pattern in matted swamp and jungle five miles northeast

No firefight followed and no injuries were reported. The spokesmen said the Americans donned gas masks, which are to number about 30.

Party Picks

Kiesinger

West Germany's dominant Christian Democratic party today chose Kurt Georg Kiesing-er, minister-president of Baden-Wuerttemberg, as its candidate to succeed Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at the head of the federal government.

On the third and final ballot, Kiesinger won 137 votes, against 81 for Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder and 26 for Rainer Barzel, the party's parliamentary leader.

The decision was taken by the party's membership in the Bundestag.

The candidate must now see if he can win enough votes from other parties to get himself a majority. The Christian Democrats alone are four votes short of the necessary 249 in the Bundestag.

There had been some doubt that Kiesinger, 62, could win the nomination because of his past links with the Nazis, expecially in the light of gains made in the State of Hesse last Sunday by a right-wing party, the National Democrats.

Kiesinger said in a radio broadcast that he would try to deal with both other parties the Socialists and the Free Democrats — to get a majority in the Bundestag. He himself is

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP) - A first-degree murder charge was filed Thursday against a University of Georgia graduate student in the robbery slaying Wednesday of a woman motel

Prosecutor James Lauderdale dentified the defendant as Ronald Allen Melton, 23, Pulaski, Melton was arrested several hours after Mrs. Leona Bales, 60, was shot at Kopp's Motel by an armed man. There were no witnesses. The woman's husband,

Wayne, said he was in a nearby apartment, heard a shot and rushed out to find his wife on the floor. She had been shot with a .25 caliber pistol in the back of the head. Melton was stopped east of Kansas City by a highway patrolman. Officers said they found two pistols in the car and $146.50. The money was the amount reported taken late Wednesday in the holdup of a grocery store at Emma, Mo., about 30 miles southeast of here.

A listless public can tolerate conditions that bring unsavory publicity to a community throughout the state and far beyond its borders.

If any purge of objectional moral conditions in a community is to have lasting effect it will not be accomplished by summoning the militia, the sheriff, the police, the FBI or depending alone upon the laws in our statute books. True these agencies do have a restraining influence on flagrant transgressions.

But human emotions being what they are, you cannot effectively legislate them out of existence. You may check them for a moment by use of force or threats of punishment. However, this is like pinching a drop of mercury-now you have it and now you don't. The liquid serves a better purpose when confined in a glass tube where it responds to temperatures by gradually rising or falling. Likewise emotions serve a better purpose when restrained.

Personal restraint in all social problems can better be developed by proper education in church, school and home. The directors of these groups through cooperation may exercise powerful influence in guidance and development of young men and women. Parental neglect of and indifference to the character development can become calamitous.

As each succeeding generation reaches maturity and restrains the disinterest of the elders in the home. all efforts of school and church come close to nullification.

If a community wants to be decent, then the individuals in that community must be decent.

Unhealthy social conditions or enterprises do not exist where there is no patronage.

Commercial immorality very often is a mirror reflecting the looseness of private morals.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A new building is being erected on the Missouri State Fair grounds which will be a general information center. It is of brick and located in the parkway on the main street, at the center of the back of the grandstand. According to Ernest Baker, secretary, the building will house Western Union, a public telephone and contain a small supply of drugless drugs.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Avansino, 312 West Fourth street, on a motor trip through the east were guests of Mr. Avansino's brother, Joseph, his wife; and his sister, Mrs. Donald Roberts and Mr. Roberts in Cleveland. O. They were accompanied by Mrs. Avansino's sister, Miss Anna Balsamo, St. Louis.

Sedalians who are familiar with existing conditions, say that it would be impossible for Sedalia to participate in the airplane service which soon will be established between Kansas City and St. Louis. The main reason is that Sedalia could not produce enough passenger business to

A Smoke Screen

Uncle Sam is finally getting around to putting an end to all this conjecture as to which cigarette is the most dangerous-or, to put it positively, the safest.

The government is going to make laboratory tests to determine the exact amount of tar and nicotine in each brand.

This will be most interesting-especially to the cigarette companies.

It does seem a shame, though, to upset the impression some of us may have received - that each and every brand of cigarette has more and better filter, and therefore less tar and nicotine, than any other brand.

It will be hard for Uncle Sam or anyone else to find a more satisfactory arrangement than that.

warrant a plane stopping here. It would require from $10,000 to $15,000 to build a suitable landing field for such service and the roofs of Sedalia buildings would have to be painted and signs placed thereon. A careful survey of the situation had been made by the Chamber of Commerce long before talk of the new passenger line was started, and the Chamber found it imprac-

Reagan War Record Under Fire

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - This column has just learned that a mysterious fire in the 1940s destroyed Army papers that might have embarrassed Ronald Reagan, then Adjutant of an Army motion picture unit, now Republican candidate for Governor of Califor-

As Adjutant, Reagan directed the day-today operations of the first motion picture unit which produced military training and propaganda films during World War II at the former Hal Roach Studios in Culver City, Calif.

The unit came under the command of Maj. Gen. Lucas V. Beau, now retired, who sent an inspection team to look it over. The team was headed by Col. G. M. Spurlock, also retired, who is now in the Investment Business in Riverside, Calif.

Spurlock acknowledged to this column that he had found the unit "in one hell of a mess" and had submitted a report to Gen. Beau, records had been falsified; production costs were exorbitant; Government film had been sold to the movies studios; bootleg meat was sold in an "unauthorized commissary."

"Reagan had nothing to de with the illegal activities," said Spurlock, "but he should have known what was going on." Gen. Beau, contacted by this column, recalled receiving Spurlock's report. "Our Inspector General found some discrepancies," he said. "The Pentagon completed the investigation. Two officers were sent to Leavenworth." Other officers with knowledge of the case, who asked to remain anonymous, claimed the General had reprimanded Reagan. They also said the movie actor had refused to testify, taking the Fifth Amendment, during the preliminary hearing. "I don't remember the reprimand," said Beau, "though it is possible."

Philip Battaglia, State Chairman of the Ronald Reagan for Governor Committee, has denied that his candidate was implicated in the mess.

"The records prove," said Battaglia, "that Reagan testified dully as to all the knowledge he had of the matter which involved an appointee on the base.'

However, Pentagon officers have made a careful search of the records, which curiously don't contain a single reference to the incident. The historical records of the first motion picture unit show only that Ronald Reagan (Serial No. 1-357403) was called to active duty as a 2nd Lieutenant on April 19, 1942. He replaced Capt. Everett W. Cole as the Unit's Adjutant.

The only reference to possible mismanagement was a single statement from the Unit: "We regret to advise that our costs have shown a sharp increase."

This column has learned, however, that some records were destroyed in an unexplained fire.

"The files were burned," Gen. Beau acknowledged. "A mysterious fire took place. It destroyed the file cases and all they contained. How it started, nobody knows."

One report placed the fire in the Headquarters office, which Reagan ran. But Beau thought the fire had occurred in the supply office.

Whatever details the fire may have destroyed, officers acquainted with the case agree that the Motion Picture Unit was an administrative mess. Now the man who was Adjutant in charge wants to administer the government of California.

Congressional Melting Pot

Indicative of the melting pot that is Congress, there are 17 Italian-Americans in the House of Representatives and one Senator; 12 Polish-Americans; two members of the house of Japanese extraction; one Japanese American Senator; one Chinese-American Senator, the latter four from Hawaii.

But there is only one Greek-American, John Brademas of South Bend, Ind.

This year, however, five Greek-Americans are running for high office - Spiro Agnew, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland; and Democrats Nick Galifianakis, running for Congress in North Carolina; John Plumides, also running for the House from North Carolina; and Charles Tsapatsaris, running from Massachusetts.

Political Go-Round It may be poetic justice that Sen. John Sparkman, running for reelection in Alabama, is telling everyone that he's not for the LBJ program. Because back in 1952, when John was running for Vice President on the Adlai Stevenson ticket, LBJ, then Senator from Texas, was very skittish about supporting Adlai and John. Lyndon made only two perfunctory speeches for the Democratic ticket in Texas and seemed even loath to ride on the Stevenson train. . . . Sparkman has been a good Senator, deserves to be reelected. . . Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican, has been a tower of strength in urging a full investigation of Sen. Dodd's conduct. He will be overwhelmingly reelected. . . Other moderate Republican Senators who will easily get the voters' nod include Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the first to speak out against Sen. Joe McCarthy; Clifford Case of New Jersey, who votes against the Right Wing. Another Senator sure to be reelected is Walter Mondale, D-Minn., the coming young Kefauver of the Senate. . The voters of West Virginia and Louisiana will decide Tuesday whether to permit their Governors to succeed themselves. Under the one-term rule, a Governor barely gets a good grasp on the job before he must bow out.

Children who are adopted Sometimes feel a little bad That they didn't seem to be wanted By their own mother and dad, And they long to find their parents Whose blood runs in their veins,

But they are very foolish, For the simple fact remains That those are adopted

Are wanted most of all, Those who open up their homes To children when they're small To share with them their worldly goods, To bestow their deep affection,

These little sons and daughters Are their children by selection; How joyous is the day at last For which parents long have waited,

And sacrifices they will make Should be appreciated; What great human stories Have been written everywhere By those to whom these children

Have been given to their care; The boy who is in the service And his lovely little wife Waited two years for a baby To complete their home and life,

And then finally the word came, One available at last, But he was scheduled for Viet Nam

And a shadow now was cast, For men to be sent to Viet Nam A child could not adopt And their dreams for their baby

Had suddenly been stopped, But the young man's commanding officer Who learned of their plight Pleaded his case to get him deferred And all turned out all right;

O'er their ill adopted lad, The cost has been tremendous But worth it to his dad, "I'll sell the farm, if I have to And everything I own," All this he and the mother

And another couple is watching

Would give for this boy nearly grown, Everything just to save him, Their money and their prayers, Watching, hoping, waiting,

For this boy who is theirs: Yes, over the country are many Who have done the same For the children they have taken And given to them their name, Youngsters to whom they're devoted

And never a moment neglected, These the abundant love receive, These children who are selected And every child so blessed Has a lesson they should learn,

There never should be a question -Just their love given in return, They are such fortunate children, These adopted daughters and sons, Whose unselfish,, wonderful parents Say: "We are the lucky ones."

Win At Bridge

South Discards

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All bridge players are people. All people think. Therefore all bridge players think. The trouble is, many do their thinking at the wrong time.

South won the heart lead with his ace. Then he led his jack of diamonds. East took the ace and led back another heart which West ruffed. South played the hand out slowly and thoughtfully but had no way to avoid losing a club.

South remarked that he was afraid of a heart ruff but there was nothing he could do about it. Somehow or other nothing ever worked for him. South should have been more than afraid of a heart ruff. East had gone to three hearts all by himself and East was vulnerable. South should have been certain that East held a six-card suit.

South should have used his thinking ability before playing the first card from dummy. He should have reasoned that the heart was a singleton. He should have been certain East would hold the ace of diamonds and that West was likely to hold the other two. Thus, he could see that heart ruff hanging over his head and if he had thought a little more, he could have seen how to avoid it.

All South had to do was to play the king of hearts from dummy. Then he could discard his ace of hearts on the ace of spades and gone about his business of playing trumps. The discard of an ace on ace appears mighty wasteful but

Having Served, It Must Now Fall...

By Peter F. Daniels About the only thing the old Sedalia Incinerator Building can look forward to is destructionit was sold for a dollar and the wrecking crews are coming to tear it to ground level. A few old-timers in the city may comment on its passing.

One thing is positive. It won't be mourned the way the Old Covered Bridge was when it burned down. It's as much a part of Sedalia history as the bridge was to the county, but there's a subtle difference.

The city incinerator never was the sort of place an artist would paint, or a poet would write about. The bridge, how ever, was. The incinerator served the city well and long, burning its trash to ashes for years.

Then the new methods were introduced. Trash was being hauled out of the city, dumped and then, eventually, buried. It wasn't practical, as the city grew, to maintain the old building. Nor was it convenient since the ashes had to be removed from the big furnaces periodi-

At the dumping grounds, trash is hauled in, deposited and burned. Once an area of land, usually a depression, is almost filled, it's covered up. The city dump is then moved to a new location—something which happened just recently near Seda-

Those who remember must guess at the time when the old incinerator went out of use. Most agree it was about ten years ago. The only use found for the place recently was connected with the city dog pound there, a dismal, dirty lean - to which was as much of an eyesore outside as in.

Then, this year, the new dog pound was completed and people stopped going to the incin-erator — at least intentionally.

So there it stands, waiting for the hammers and men to tear down the upper level. The downstairs portion, or that area where the furnaces are located, will be left standing - to be filled and covered up.

Mounds of earth on the east and west of the building go up to the second level. In the picture on this page, that would be the roof line of the white building on the left. The work will be done by B. S. Hutchinson, 2801 West Main, who contracted to tear the building down for the materials.

Somehow, it's been impossible to find anyone who remembers much about the time when the incinerator was first put into thorized a payment of $15,000 to Suicide is the No. 2 cause of You know why? Because I was In defining suicidal people, the Ney Odorless Crematory

High School Hemline Out, Hairline In

NEW YORK (AP) - Officials at a New York high school say no to girls' short dresses but yes to boys' long tresses. The situation may make enemies of the miniskirt and maxi-hair crow

About 500 girls at Great Neck North High School on Long Is-land have demanded that boys with long hair be banned from classes if the administration does not lift its restrictions on above the knee skirts.

A petition bearing the girls' hemline, hairline stand is already on the way to the local school board, accompanied by a threat to take the issue to the state education commissioner

The little mod world rebe began when Revette Hirsc field, a pretty 14-year-old with 4 preference for beige miniskirts, was told by Assistant Principal Edmund Fontanella "your skirts are too short."

He said Revette was creating a "distraction" and ordered h not to return to class until her hem got somewhere in the neighborhood of her knee bone. But Revette had a problem.

Her mother wasn't able to lengthen anything by more than an inch. The result was two days of sitting in the principal's

Finally a conference between Revette's parents and Fontanel-la led to her purchase of some longer gear and his announce-ment that miniskirts were henceforth not welcome at school.

Then Revette decided to take revenge. The petition and ulti-matum followed. In the Bronx, Arthur George 17, was allowed back in class after school officials decided his hair really wasn't so long as to place him on the excluded list. He had spent two days out of class before a decision was reached that his Beatle-style coiffure was actually neat and well-groomed.
